Bun basics Apply gel to damp hair and gather into a ponytail. Try: Phyto Pro Sculpting Gel ($18, sephora.com). Wrap hair around the base of the pony. Secure with pins and a spritz of spray. Try: Ted Gibson Beautiful Hold Hairspray ($32, beauty.com). Smooth down straggly strands around the hairline with a pomade. Try: Redken Smooth Down Sleek Obedience ($16, redken.com).

Tried & Tested

Stop stubble with four new razors

1. Noxzema 4-Blade Disposable Shaver ($6/3-pack, drugstores) It was a close call, and we had the smooth legs to prove it.
2. Bic Soleil with Cartridge Refills ($7, drugstores) Now we only need to buy extra blades.
3. Schick Quattro for Women Go! ($9, drugstores) Whether you are at home, at the beach or heading to the gym, rely on this portable for silky skin.
4. Gillette Venus Breeze ($10, drugstores) "It's so easy to use, and I like the moisturizing gel strips," said an OK! staffer.

ASK HOLLY

Our beauty director gives you the lowdown on looking good

Q How can I get rid of a pimple quickly?

A Let me just start by saying, don't pick! It may seem like a good idea, but it does more harm than good. You might want to visit your dermatologist for a cortisone injection into the blemish to speed up its disappearance. Or you could enlist a drying potion to clear that baby up while you sleep. Also, check out ThermoClear ($150, thermaclear.com), a new, high-tech helper that uses a quick zap of heat to penetrate the skin and hasten the healing time of each pimple.

Q I wash my face three times a day. Is this okay?

A It's not a good idea. Twice a day — once in the morning and once at night — is really all you need. Know that no matter how greasy you think your face is, it actually produces a healthy amount of oil. By washing too often, you may cause oil glands to overreact and produce more oil. Be sure to stick to a gentle cleanser for sensitive skin.

Q How can I remove a makeup mistake?

A A swift swipe of a cotton swab will do the job. Or try Revlon's Makeup Eraser Pen ($8, drugstores). It easily eradicates slipups (even waterproof mascara) without ruining the rest of your makeup. We suggest keeping one in each purse!
